ABOUT MND TASMANIA

Without a cure and an average life expectancy of just 27 months, MND Tasmania has focused on providing the best possible care and support for Victorians living with MND for the last 40 years. We provide direct care to all Tasmanians living with this devastating disease and their loved ones.

The level of support, the quality of information and the access to vital assistive equipment has increased greatly since MND Tasmania's establishment and is allowing those who are diagnosed with MND to live as well as possible for as long as possible.

We rely on the generosity of fundraisers and donors who help generate the funds required for the Association to deliver all its vital services. Until there's a cure, there's care.
